Digital Access to Washington History on JSTOR

As of February 2021, JSTOR has changed how you access this resource. You can now access JSTOR through the membership portal at dchistory.org. The DC History Center uses a cloud-based nonprofit software suite (NeonCRM) to support our membership and fundraising programs. For assistance on accessing this membership benefit, take a look at our step-by-step guide below.

Guide to Accessing Washington History

1.) Login to your account.

As a first step, you will need to login to your membership account.

Don't have a login? If you have not already done so, please create an account by using the Password Reset feature by clicking "Having trouble logging in?" This will allow for our records of your account to connect to your constituent login. Be sure to enter the email address associated with your account (i.e. the one where you receive acknowledgements of your transactions). You also have the option to create a login with Facebook or Twitter.

2.) Select "JSTOR Access" from the dropdown menu.

On the Login Home screen, click on the "What would you like to do?" dropdown menu on the left side of the screen. Then click on "JSTOR Access."

	Accessing JSTOR
	JSTOR is a digital library that provides access to more than 12 million academic journal articles, books, and primary sources in 75 disciplines. As a benefit of your membership, you have digital access to all back issues of Washington History magazine and its predecessor, Records of the Columbia Historical Society, via JSTOR.
	As of February 2021, JSTOR no longer sets up passwords for individual members and subscribers. Instead, you can now access JSTOR by clicking this authenticated link below.
