

Legacy Finding Aid for Manuscript and Photograph Collections

801 K Street NW
Washington, D.C. 20001

What are Finding Aids?

Finding aids are narrative guides to archival collections created by the repository to describe the contents of the material. They often provide much more detailed information than can be found in individual catalog records. Contents of finding aids often include short biographies or histories, processing notes, information about the size, scope, and material types included in the collection, guidance on how to navigate the collection, and an index to box and folder contents.

What are Legacy Finding Aids?

The following document is a legacy finding aid – a guide which has not been updated recently. Information may be outdated, such as the Historical Society’s contact information or exact box numbers for contents’ location within the collection. Legacy finding aids are a product of their times; language and terms may not reflect the Historical Society’s commitment to culturally sensitive and anti-racist language. This guide is provided in “as is” condition for immediate use by the public. This file will be replaced with an updated version when available.

The Historical Society of Washington, D.C., is a community-supported educational and research organization that collects, interprets, and shares the history of our nation’s capital. Founded in 1894, it serves a diverse audience through its collections, public programs, exhibits, and publications.

THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY OF WASHINGTON, D.C
SPECIAL COLLECTIONS FINDING AID

Title: MS 0800, James M. Goode Historic Houses Research Collection

Processor: Brianne Roth, Anne McDonough

Date: February 2015 [Finding Aid last updated April 2016]

James Moore Goode (1939-) is a noted historian of Washington culture and architecture, as well as the author of several important books including, but not limited to, The Outdoor Sculpture of Washington, D.C. (1974); Washington Sculpture: A Cultural History of Outdoor Sculpture in the Nation's Capital (2009); Capital Losses: A Cultural History of Washington's Destroyed Buildings (1979 and 2003); Capital Views: Historic Photographs of Washington, DC, Alexandria and Loudoun County, Virginia, and Frederick County, Maryland (2012); and Best Addresses, a Century of Washington's Distinguished Apartment Houses (1988 and 2003).

Dr. Goode has generously donated much of his research material to the Historical Society of Washington, D.C.; see related materials below for additional research collections of possible interest.

Scope and Content Note: The collection comprises original handwritten and typed research notes; correspondence; excerpts from and copies of published materials; brochures and pamphlets; the occasional copy photograph; and other documentation created and gathered in the course of researching and writing, "Capital Houses: Historic Residences of Washington, DC and Its Environs, 1735-1965" (Acanthus Press, 2015). Images produced for the book were donated to the National Gallery of Art, Department of Image Collections.

Dr. Goode changed approaches during the course of the writing process, from initially arranging the book by neighborhood in favor of an arrangement by architectural style. While many of the files are arranged alphabetically and fall into general series and subseries as described below, there are discrepancies which were maintained to reflect the creator's original order. Material relating to each series maybe found interspersed throughout the collection.

Series I: RESEARCH FILES consists primarily of non-photographic research materials, including original apartment house brochures, field notes, newspaper articles, and research correspondence.

Subseries A: Individual Houses, arranged alphabetically by house name.

Subseries B: Research notes for several specific chapters of the book. This series is arranged first by architectural style and then alphabetically by house name for specific chapters of the book, specifically Chapter 1, Georgian Houses of Washington, D.C.; Chapter 2, Federal Houses of Washington, D.C.; and Chapter 9, Norman Revival Houses of Washington, D.C.

Subseries C: Research files for specific neighborhoods, arranged alphabetically by neighborhood name.

Subseries D: Research on individual architects, arranged alphabetically by architectural firm or architect. As this subseries may duplicate material found in James M. Goode Architects in Washington, D.C., collection, 1870-1987. (MS 0384), and may be removed from the collection upon further processing, Subseries D is physically arranged at the end of the collection.

Series II: ADMINISTRATIVE FILES such as contracts, correspondence and files concerning the editing process; photo permissions; and expense reports.

Subseries A: Administrative files, primarily found in Containers 8, 9, 10, 12, and 13, where it is interfiled alphabetically, e.g. Johns Hopkins contract (folder 111) can be found between Jewett House (folder 110) and Kiplinger (folder 112), and Titles (folder 269) can be found between Strathmore (268) and Trentman House (270), and Container 13, where it can be found following folder 300. Administrative material may also be interspersed with other series throughout the collection.

Subseries B: Material designated as “Not to Use,” including folders on specific houses, publishers, photographs, and individual architects. There is no alphabetical or chronological arrangement of files within this series; the physical arrangement follows the creator’s original order.

Processor’s Note: This collection was handled following the principles of “More Product, Less Process,” receiving a basic level of processing including minimal organization and description. The container list indicates the creator’s original order and original folder titles. Original folders were retained wherever possible; contents were verified against folder titles in some but not all cases. Labeled folders that were empty when accessioned by the Historical Society were retained and their titles updated to indicate they were empty when received.

Donor: James M. Goode, 2014.053

Size: 7.6 cubic ft (19 containers)

Access Restrictions: The collection was embargoed until the 2015 publication of the Capital Houses: Historic Residences of Washington, DC and Its Environs, 1735-1965. Following publication there are no restrictions on access for research.

Use Restrictions: This is a research collection that includes photocopies of published materials as well as copy prints of photographs. Some material may be copyrighted or restricted. It is the patron's obligation to determine and satisfy copyright or other case restrictions when publishing or otherwise distributing materials found in the collections.
